

ICFAI University hosts talk on career in IT

Dimapur, Jan. 23 (EMN): The Department of Computer Science at ICFAI University Nagaland organised a talk on "Careers in the IT sector" on January 21 by Chiepelo Lashuse, a software engineer at Service-Now.

According to an update, the event, held at the university premises, catered to the queries of the students and faculty members of the BCA and MCA programmes.

The resource person on the occasion shared his personal journey and the key lessons he learnt throughout his career, speaking candidly about the challenges faced early in his academic life, particularly recounting rejections during early years and perseverance by clearing the GATE exam.

He stressed the importance of mastering data structures and algorithms for cracking technical interviews. He underscored the importance of persistence and adaptability, demonstrating that the IT sector offers opportunities for people from diverse backgrounds.
